PUBLIC COMMENT

Sevend Larsen a Raspberry Hill resident read a letter writing by Rose and Bob Schenck also a Raspberry Hill resident; the letter stated the residents are concerned about the new sizes of houses DR Horton is constructing on the remaining DR Horton owned lots. The house are approximately 1/3 of the size previous built and about 50% less in value. The new style of homes being built have affected their home values.

Josh Morris also a resident of Raspberry Hill indicated he has read the town's building ordinance and zoning code and would like the Town to implement preventative care as mentioned in the codes. The houses DR Horton is currently building affects the property values and the values of the Community.

Jean Martin stated she was in support of the previous statements; Martin is a Raspberry Hill resident.

Robbie Robison a resident of Raspberry Hill said "ditto" to the previous stated comments.

Mayor Doering requested Planning Director Jennifer Simmons, provide information about the house standards being build at Raspberry Hill. Simmons indicated there was not a block diversity plan approved with the final plat. There has been communication with DR Horton requesting no more than three of the newly proposed homes be built in a row. In phase one there was 200 lots, 59 currently have homes on them, 3 homes under construction and 16 lots remain in DR Horton ownership. The remaining lots are owned by an investment group; the group has not made any movement to build on their lots. The discussion included the Homeowners' Association regulations and Memorandum of Agreement for Public Improvements. After staff comments, Mayor Doering stated there could be additional comments during the Mayor/Trustee Reports.

Matt Heidenfelt stated he appreciated the Town of Frederick working with the Longmont Humane Society in regards to the impounding of animals. Heidenfelt's home he considers to be a animal rescue and is willing to take in stray animals or litters of animals instead on taking them to the Society. Heidenfelt would like to assist the Town in these efforts.
